Real-time data security is important, that's why HomePass provides GUARD, always-on digital security for every device on your network. It filters out suspicious activity and even automatically quarantines devices that are behaving strangely. The system also includes built-in ad blocking for overall smoother surfing.

With Plume HomePass you can set up individual user profiles for everyone on the network for a clear picture of what's happening.

Set a primary device to act as a user's beacon and toggle an alert to let you know the device (and human!) are back home. Quickly add additional devices to each user and create custom parameters for each one, like no video games on weeknights or cell phones at dinnertime. Contact us to find out more about Plume. https://lnkd.in/gi_bKmru
